

WORK2015 – History of working life

Chair:

Adjunct professor Anu-Hanna Anttila, University of Turku, FI

The history of working life is not a unified whole, but there are many histories that are as yet unknown and unwritten, as well as new interpretations of previous, already established histories. This track will focus on the larger and smaller histories of working life, what can be learned from those and what methodologies are suitable for the analysis of the history of working life

Wednesday, 19 August at 8.30-9.30 - Session 1

8.01

Women and mining work in northern Sweden – a historical view
Lena Abrahamsson, Sweden

8.02

Researching traces from tertiary education to present and past work practice. How to relate the influence of particular tertiary educational training to the work practice of academic trained employees and managers' experience during their work life
Poul Bitsch Olsen, Denmark

Wednesday, 19 August at 11.30-13.00 - Session 2

8.03

Transformation of Principles of Performance and its Impact on Employers and Employees
Jessika Barg, Germany

8.04

Cultural History of the Concept "Toimihenkilö" in the Era of the Finnish Industrialisation
Ilkka Levä, Finland

8.05

Work trajectories - challenges in approaching the structural and individual changes in Romania. Evidence from a qualitative research
Ana Maria Preoteasa, Romania