

WORK2015 – Sites and places of work

Chair:

Susan Luckman, University of South Australia, AU

This stream invites participants to consider the changing places and sites of work that new formations, types, temporalities and forms of attachment to work are giving rise to. It seeks to explore: how digital (and other) technologies and shifting working patterns are extending/further occupying the physical and social spaces of working lives; how are work locations being re-imagined; how is the interface between work and the rest of life collapsing spatially. How do the new sites of work contribute to the social meaning of work? Are new sites of work individualized and resistant to collective and social organization; what are the inclusions and exclusions of new places of work; what new surveillance and control techniques are emerging to manage these enhanced work mobilities and extensions into the private realm; and what spatial possibilities of escape or resistance are emerging?

Thursday, 20 August at 15.30-17.30 - Session 6

22.01

Exploring Boundaries in the Hybrid Environment
Petros Chamakiotis, UK

22.02

Independent Together: Community Formation and New Meanings of Work among Workers in Coworking Spaces
Sandra C. Arch, USA

22.03

Coworking: A new interpretation of work
Silvia Ivaldi, Italy

22.04

Opting out and in: Professional women striving for autonomy and control in Finland, Poland and the USA
Ingrid Biese, Finland

Friday, 21 August at 8.30-10.00 - Session 7

22.05

The re-location of gendered work within the post-Fordist sexual contract: the case of 'mommy blogging'
Katariina Mäkinen, Finland

22.06

Working From Home: What is the Effect on Employees' Effort?
Kira Pauka, Switzerland

22.07

Locating the home-based making self in the global creative micro-economy
Susan Luckman, Australia

Friday, 21 August at 13.30-15.00 - Session 8

22.08

Working with leisure: Lifestyle-based self-employment and flexible boundaries between the private and public
Hanna-Mari Ikonen, Finland

22.09

But We Are Not Consultants: How Academics Make Sense of their Professional Identity in Non-territorial Offices
Kathleen Stephenson, The Netherlands

Friday, 21 August at 15.00-16.30 - Session 9

22.10

Multi-locational work and new technology - being simultaneously present in several spaces
Johanna Koroma, Finland

22.11

Studying Everyday Life with LifeScope Methodology
Eero Palomäki, Finland